Clark Gable, the King of Filmland, Dies

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Clark Gable, the king of Hollywood, died Wednesday night from a heart attack in Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital.

He had been in the hospital since Nov. 6 when a heart attack felled the husky, 50-year-old actor at his suburban Encino ranch. Death came at 11 p. m., Pacific Standard Time.

Doctors said he died peacefully — with only a few sleepy gasps and no apparent pain.

Gable was born Feb. 1, 1901, in Cadiz, Ohio, the son of an oil worker. He knocked about as a farm boy, oil field worker and runner plant employee. Then he took a job as a backstage call boy in a touring stock company. From then on, he was an actor, touring the country with stock companies. Lionel Barrymore spotted him once in a Los Angeles play and got him a series of bit parts in the movies.

"Later he played Killer Mears in the 'Los Angeles' company of 'Last Mile'."

The Depression ended the era of the patient-haired lovers of the screen, and spawned the Gable era. His old friend, Lionel Barrymore, suggested to Louis B. Mayer, that Gable would be ideal for the gangster role in 'A Free Soul,' starring Barrymore and Norma Shearer.

In the movie Gable slapped Norma Shearer, one of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's top feminine stars.

"The reaction was astounding," said one MGM executive, "instead of the letters of protest we expected, women by the thousands wrote in that they would like to be slapped around by Gable."

This started the king's reign in Hollywood. Joan Crawford said recently that "no one, not even Brando, has ever approached Gable. He's the king and he always will be."

When Margaret Mitchell wrote 'Gone With the Wind,' she had Clark Gable in mind when she created the character of Rhett Butler. Everybody knew it but Gable.

"I never could see myself in that part," he once said. His portrayal in the movie of the famed host seller was a screen classic but it was not his favorite.

His all-time favorite was the one that won him an Oscar in 1934 — the wise-cracking newspaperman of 'It Happened One Night.'

"I was having a beef with Metro in those days," he once said. "I was sick — even went to a hospital — but they threatened me with suspension. To get even, they exiled me via a loanout to Columbia. Columbia in those days was not the major studio it is now. It was a little independent on poverty row — Siberia for me, so my bosses at MGM thought."

"But I knew they had guessed wrong as soon as I read the script and talked to Frank Capra, the director. The picture was the big turning point in my career. MGM had me in a rut playing mostly heavies or brutes."

'It Happened One Night' gave me a chance to play comedy and from then on, I was never type cast."

Gable, a better actor than most screen heroes, never took himself seriously. A few years ago, I asked him if he intended to take up directing as had some of his fellow stars.

"Direct Hell! I haven't even learned how to act yet."

In a way, that quote summed up Gable — a big star who never got the big head — even though he had the ears for it.

Unlike many big stars, Gable was as beloved by fellow workers as by fans. When news of his first heart attack broke, a flock of MGM people from gatemen to publicity men flocked to the hospital to help — although Gable hadn't worked at MGM for 10 years.

Nixon Captures California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon captured California's 32 electoral votes Wednesday night on unofficial returns from more than 230,000 absentee ballots counted eight days after the polls closed.

Nixon led California by 13,160 votes. Sen. John F. Kennedy still was president-elect based on national electoral vote totals in the closest race in modern times.

N. O. Board Asks Judge to Suspend Order

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans School Board today asked U.S. District Judge J. Skelly Wright to suspend his order directing integration in the city's elementary public schools until federal and state differences can be solved.

Attorney Samuel Rosenberg filed the action asking that the board be permitted to operate segregated schools in the city.

School Board President Lloyd Pittner said that "this action should in no way be construed by Gov. (Jimmie H.) Davis, Mr. Jackson (state education superintendent), or any member of the state legislature as an abdication of our stand for a continuance of our public education system."

Rosenberg, referring to Wednesday's demonstrations by 1,000 white teen-agers, said "the public school system has been made a battle ground for the fight between state and federal rights."

"The action which we took today is a sincere plea that we be permitted to continue working for the purpose for which we were elected — the furtherance and improvement of the public education system of Orleans Parish (county)," Pittner said.

The board's request asked that it be allowed to operate the schools of this parish on the traditionally segregated basis, pending a final decision herein concerning the sovereignty of the state of Louisiana as opposed to the sovereignty of the United States of America.

Earlier, reports swept through the city that the state was about to toss a counterpunch to end the four-day integration at two public schools.

U.S. Attorney M. Hephburn May made a visit to both McDonough No. 19 and the William Frank schools this morning. He told newsmen when questioned about his visit:

"The same rumor brought me here that brought you people (the press) here, that the state police were to serve some legal papers."

He said there were many versions, that the papers would be served either on the federal marshals who accompanied the four Negro girls to the schools or on the school principals.

"I don't see what purpose they would serve," he said, adding he believed they would only duplicate what has been filed before and scheduled for hearing in federal court Friday.

White attendance at McDonough disappeared with only the three Negro first graders showing up and only three white students attended classes at Frank where lone Negro girl turned out for school.

There were few demonstrators at either of the schools, but a

U. S. to Bring Home Families of Servicemen

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under orders from President Eisenhower, the Defense Department will begin bringing home in January 284,000 wives and children of U.S. servicemen stationed abroad.

This return of dependents — more than half of all the armed forces dependents overseas — is part of a seven-point program instituted by the President to save an estimated billion dollars a year in American spending abroad.

The program will not cut total U. S. spending — only that part spent overseas. Some costs actually will go up as more expensive U. S. goods are bought and shipped abroad to replace much now purchased there.

In effect, the program imposes a strict "buy American" policy on the military services and the International Cooperation Administration, which handles foreign aid.

The gradual reduction of overseas dependents is to be at the rate of 15,000 a month. At least part of it will be accomplished by keeping wives and children in this country as new men are sent overseas. There is no present plan to cut back the number of servicemen abroad.

Announcing the drastic foreign spending curbs Wednesday night at Augusta, Ga., Eisenhower declared it is imperative to bring this country's outflow of dollars into better balance with its foreign income. The United States presently faces a 1960 deficit in "balance of payments" which could reach $4 billion.

The United States is selling abroad much more than it is buying there in commercial trade. But this balance is more than offset by heavy military and foreign aid expenditures in other countries and by private U. S. investments there. All these affect the balance of payments.

One purpose of the sweeping curbs is to maintain world confidence in the dollar, the President made clear. Another is to protect this country's $10-billion gold reserve against further shrinkage.

All agencies and departments of the federal government with foreign operations, including the State Department, were told by the President to determine what they could do toward economizing on foreign costs by returning dependents and where possible reducing personnel. Their plans together with those of the military services are to be in Eisenhower's hands by Dec. 15.

Incidents Almost Cause a Panic

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — The combination of a sonic boom and a simultaneous power failure caused a brief panic in Conway Wednesday night.

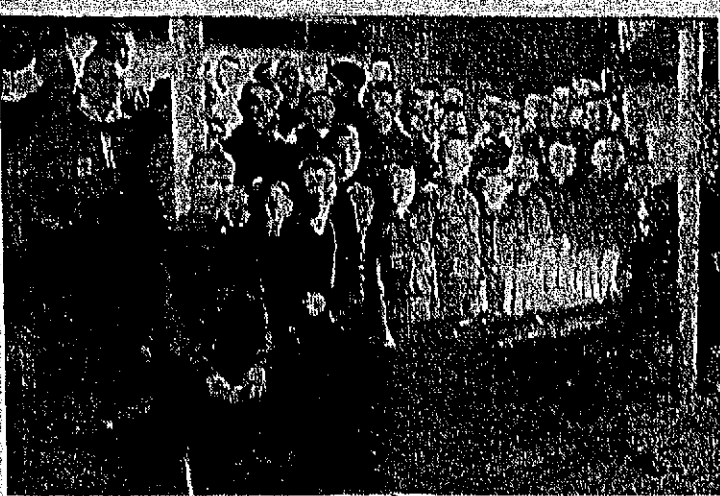

Lights flickered out over a wide section of town as the blast of a B-50 jet bomber breaking the sound barrier reverberated overhead.

Power company officials said the failure was caused by a faulty cylinder on a 3,000-kilowatt engine.

The trouble was not related to the sonic boom.

News media and fire and police stations were flooded with calls.

Captive Was Pal of Most Wanted Man

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A fugitive captured at Des Arc Wednesday was believed to have been an onetime companion of one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, J.J. Casper, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, said.

Lloyd George Deppe, 40, a native of Hermann, Mo., was taken into custody at a sporting goods store where he tried to sell a boat motor.

Deppe once was believed traveling with Robert William Schultz, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men until his capture two weeks ago at Orlando, Fla. Casper said.

Deppe was not armed and offered no resistance. Clerks in the store recognized Deppe from an FBI wanted poster and notified Sheriff E. O. Hamilton and Police Chief Orvil E. Owens that he was in the store.

Casper said Deppe was turned over to U.S. Marshal R. Ben Kidd for return to a correctional institution at Sandstone, Miss., where Deppe is wanted "for violating terms of his conditional release. He originally was sentenced for interstate transportation of a stolen car, Casper said.

Drums Still Carry Congo Messages

"A drum message is used instead of church bells to call people to worship in the Congo," the Rev. Joseph Spooner told a gathering at the First Presbyterian Church on Nov. 16.

This was in reply to questions asked the returned missionary, his wife and daughter, Linda, in a panel discussion held after a potluck supper had been served in the fellowship rooms of the church. Those on the panel included Judge James Pilkinton, moderator, Jack Lowe, Haskell Jones, Gordon Bayless, Mrs. Jim McKenzie, Mrs. Dorsey McTear, Sr. and Men's Class President, Arthur Wimmell, who introduced the group.

About 75 heard discussion of such topics as: the influence of reports of American life by African natives who have visited here; the communication in Africa, including newspapers, magazines and radio; which doctors in that land of fear; home ec classes conducted by Mrs. Spooner; a pet parrot of Linda's; everyday living, such as food, clothing and shelter; independence day; that natives are trained to carry on the work begun by the Christian missionaries.

However, it said temperatures would be about normal for this time of year over the Southern states and west of the Continental Divide. Below normal temperatures are expected in the Southern Plateau west of the Continental Divide.

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal in the Great Lakes region, Mississippi Valley and Pacific Northwest during the next 30 days. Below normal rainfall is expected over the Southwest, Northern Plains and Middle Atlantic Coast. In other areas normal rainfall is predicted.

Man Tells of Killing Three Housewives

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — A sabbing dishwasher told authorities today that he killed the wives of three Chicago business executives in a canyon at Starved Rock State Park after a bungled purse-snatching attempt.

Sheriff Ray Eutsey said the dramatic early morning account was given by Chester Otis Weger, 21, father of two children. He was employed in the park lodge kitchen.

The victims, slain in March, were Lillian Oetting, 50; Mildred Lindquist, 50, and Frances Murphy, 47, who lived in Riverside, a Chicago suburb.

Hundreds of men were questioned in a widespread eight-month investigation.

Eutsey said Weger had been a special object of interest because he had been questioned in two robberies at nearby Deer Park in 1959.

Today, handcuffed and held by a chain leash, the stocky Weger told authorities from place to place in the canyon re-enacting the killings.

The sheriff said Weger told this story between outbursts of sobbing and periods of sulky silence. He encountered the women in the canyon the afternoon of March 14 and attempted to snatch what he thought was a purse from one of them.

It was a camera carried by Murphy. The strap broke. Weger said he pleaded with them to return up the canyon and give him an opportunity to flee. At length, they consented.

Weger said he followed the women, still intent upon getting money, and herded them into the cave.

"I tied them so they wouldn't follow me. The little one (Mrs. Murphy) raised her hand to hit me. When I started back, she came after me on the path. I thought she was tied."

"She hit me on the back of the head with binoculars. I reached for the club as she hit me, and I turned and struck her on the back of the head."

The club was a length of tree limb.

He said Mrs. Murphy fell. "Her eyes were closed. I carried her back to the cave. The two women in the cave managed to get up. One tried to scratch me; I don't know which one."

"I'd laid the club down, but I picked it up and hit them so they couldn't identify me. They lay back. I kept striking them. Then I looked up and Mrs. Murphy came to. I thought I had killed her. I thought she was dead."

He clubbed Mrs. Murphy again, he said.

The bodies were found in the cave March 1.

Eutsey said that Weger had been under 24-hour surveillance for a month, since a second inconclusive lie detector test. He was taken into custody at 5 p. m. Wednesday for further questioning.

In jail at Ottawa, Weger was confronted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Weger, who urged him to tell the truth and satisfy the investigators.

"He wouldn't say a word to us," Weger's mother, Juanita, 45, said later. "I just don't see how my boy could have killed three women. He was always real quiet ever since he was a baby."

Red Leaders May Have Difficulties

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — Allied diplomats said today the summit talks of world Communist leaders started in the Kremlin 10 days ago have gone on unduly long.

Western experts — perhaps wishfully — speculated that Moscow and Peking were encountering difficulties in patching up their ideological rift.

But they do not rule out a declaration of common purpose designed to illustrate policy unity by the contending rulers of the Soviet Union and Red China and their followers.

Essentially the secret talks are believed to be revolving around Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Red China's President Liu Shao-chi.

The meeting is, however, being attended by every important leader of world communism except China's Mao Tse-tung and Italy's Palmiro Togliatti.

Communist newspapers and radios have made no reference to the conference as if to pretend nothing unusual is afoot.

Western authorities have no direct and swift means of knowing what's been going on among the Red big-wigs.

Yet they are convinced, despite Moscow-Peking protestations of solidarity, that serious ideological arguments are still going on from rival Soviet and Red Chinese standpoints.

Broadly the Soviet Union holds that communism will triumph without war through the process of peaceful coexistence. China maintains this to be a Marxist-Leninist heresy — and that communism must be ready to crush capitalist imperialism by military action in the last resort.

Congo Stages a Military Show

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Col. Joseph Mobutu staged an impressive military parade in the center of the capital today in a spectacular gesture to demonstrate the power of his pro-Western regime.

More than 30,000 Congolese soldiers lined the sun-baked Boulevard Albert to watch the march by the 2,000 soldiers of the Leopoldville and Thysville garrisons.

The senior officers of the United Nations force and the diplomats of the Western powers stood beside Mobutu as he took the salute, resplendent in a full-dress uniform and ceremonial sword.

The diplomats of the African-Asian nations which still regard Patrice Lumumba as premier boycotted the parade. So did Leopoldville Provincial President Cleophas Kamitatu, who was listed as one of the guests of honor.

Kamitatu, despite his recent agreement with Mobutu for maintaining order in Leopoldville, remains angry in Lumumba's alleged powerful backers. His 2,000-strong provincial police force took only a small part in controlling the crowds lining both sides of the broad boulevard.

L. R. Board Case to Be Heard Today

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today hears oral arguments on whether the Little Rock, Ark., School Board is moving fast enough toward integrating its schools.

Twenty-one Negro pupils, backed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, have appealed a ruling of U.S. District Judge John E. Miller who upheld the board's application of Arkansas' pupil placement law and board regulations.

The appellants, who say they are acting on behalf of all students of their race contend the board should be required to make assignments only on the basis of attendance areas and that any pupil living within the area of a particular school should be assigned there.

Eleven Negroes currently are attending two formerly all-white high schools at Little Rock.

A twelfth, a girl, recently was transferred back to a Negro school at her own request.

The board has rejected most applications of Negroes for admission to predominantly white schools.

It has used the state's pupil placement law, which permits assignments to particular schools for a variety of reasons and give school boards broad discretion.

Board attorneys filed a brief two days ago setting out the board's position.

Wiley A. Branton, a Pine Bluff, Ark., Negro attorney, previously had filed a brief for the Negro students.

Two other appeals from rulings of judges at Little Rock also were set for hearing today.

Luther Bailey, a convicted Negro rapist, appealed from a holding of District Judge Gordon E. Young that Negroes had not been systematically excluded from, or limited in, jury service at Little Rock.

A jury in 1956 sentenced Bailey to death for rape of a middle-aged Little Rock widow.

A number of legal maneuvers in his behalf have failed.

The other appellants are a Lonoke, Ark., pinball machine distributor and a North Little Rock cafe owner.

Ike Tells Air Units, Navy to Prevent Attack

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower has ordered U.S. Navy warships and air units to help Guatemala and Nicaragua "seek out and prevent" any Communist-directed attack on these countries if it becomes necessary.

The White House reported the warships, including an aircraft carrier, are "now on the high seas" to carry out this mission.

Eisenhower acted, the White House said, in answer to written requests from the Guatemalan and Nicaraguan governments for such American help.

In the past few days Guatemala and Nicaragua have fought off what they claim are anti-government revolts directed by supporters of Cuban Fidel Castro.

Eisenhower discussed the Nicaraguan and Guatemalan situations today at his vacation headquarters with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates and General Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

This high-level confidential review came after Eisenhower met with his full National Security Council for two hours and 10 minutes.

The White House said, however, that the Nicaraguan and Guatemalan requests for help were not discussed at the NSC meeting.

Eisenhower had already decided Wednesday, it said, to order Navy fleet units to answer their appeals for help.

Teachers Advised to Take SS

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus recommended to the Arkansas Legislative Council Wednesday that the state's teacher retirement system be combined with the federal Social Security program to give retiring teachers additional benefits and at the same time save the state money.

Faubus said the teacher retirement program is so large that it now costs the state government three times the amount of teacher contributions. Teachers pay five per cent of their salaries into the fund.

The proposal would not do away with the retirement fund but would lump retirement funds with those available under Social Security, Faubus said.

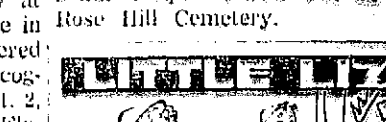

The Arkansas Educational Association is in favor of such a plan and is polling teachers for their opinions.

Car Plunges Into a House

AN AUTO DRIVEN BY MRS. TAYLOR STEWART, HOT Springs, daughter of Mrs. K. G. McRae of Hope, apparently went out of control and rammed into the home of Municipal Judge W. K. Lemley on Edgewood Street this morning.

MRS. STEWART SUSTAINED A HEAD INJURY AND lacerations but was not considered critically injured. She was rushed to a local hospital by an Oxford ambulance.

POLICE CHIEF JACK BROWN SAID SHE WAS DRIVING alone and the auto must have gone out of control at 5th and Edgewood. The car traveled into a ditch at least twice, carved off a tree and went about 150 steps before plunging into the Lemley porch, the officer said. There was considerable damage.

Boat Flips, 4 Members of Family Drown

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Four Rock, who was fishing about 100 members of a Harvey, Ill., family yards away from the accident drowned Wednesday when their boat overturned on Lake Conway near here.

The victims were Mrs. Ruby Hill, 24; her son Billy, 5; daughter Cheryl, 2; and her brother-in-law, Harold L. Hawes, 33.
Ken C. Williams of North Little

Rock, who was fishing about 100 yards away from the accident scene, said he heard the motor on their boat splutter, heard Hawes shout for help and turned to see the boat capsize apparently after it struck a stump.
"I tried to get over there as soon as I could through the brush," Williams said.

Williams said he spotted the girl's body floating on the water but did not see the other three. He pulled the child from the water unconscious but failed in an attempt to revive her by both artificial and mouth to mouth respiration.

Williams' shouts for assistance brought other nearby fishermen to the scene to search the area while he went for additional help.
The other bodies were recovered later in the day.

Officers said the four had rented a cabin at Matichell's Landing last Saturday. Hawes told workers at the landing he planned to spend handful of spectators jeered at McDonogh when nine white teenagers were arrested for loitering.

Demonstrations by white youths against race mixing in schools sent police and fire engines racing over the city Wednesday. Negroes tossed rocks and bottles at cars and buses Wednesday night sent police on a dozen or more calls.

Fights between Negro and white youths in three neighborhoods and a cross burning on St. Charles Avenue were among 20 complaints investigated during the night.

The day time demonstrations brought arrest of 89 persons, including three Negroes. Thirty-four additional arrests were made Wednesday night, including 31 Negroes.

Screaming teenagers were dispersed Wednesday by fire hoses. Several persons were injured in scattered violence that included slapping of a Negro and a gunshot wound for a white man.

White youths cornered a policeman and gave him a severe beating. Four Negroes were beaten during the day by white men.

Shouting, jeering mobs made up mostly of truant high school youths roamed crowded downtown streets. Police prevented more than 1,000 demonstrators from reaching offices of the school board in the downtown section.

An unrelenting federal judge who ordered school integration ignored demands by some Louisiana legislators that he stop aside.

U.S. District Judge J. Skelly Wright issued the integration order and enjoined the legislature and top state officials from attempts to prevent race mixing in schools.

The legislature in Baton Rouge had before it for action today a resolution asking Louisiana congressmen to use any means possible, including impeachment, in forcing Wright out of the picture.

Legislators said Wright's decrees were arrogant and unmerciful and showed disregard for other branches of government and an unwillingness to consider existing conditions.

Also before the State Senate is a House-approved proposal to pay payment of state funds to the new Orleans School Board, already in financial straits.

Ellison Named Union President

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — George Ellison was elected president of the Arkansas AFL-CIO and Bill Becker was named secretary.

Ellison, 41, a member of Glassworkers' Local 4 of Fort Smith, had been serving as secretary of the state organization. He defeated Don McCullar, formerly of El Dorado and now with the State, County and Municipal Employees Union at Houston, Texas.

The presidency was made a full-time paid job and the secretary and treasurer's posts were combined by an amendment passed at an earlier session of the three-day meeting.

Becker, 36, a Hot Springs labor official who for the past two months had served as treasurer, defeated Schuyler Smith of Little Rock, business representative of the State Council of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Sam T. Shelby, of Bauxite, a member of the Steelworkers Local 333, was re-elected vice president.

As president, Ellison succeeds Wayne E. Glom of Camden, who headed the organization for two years but did not seek re-election.

DOROTHY DIX

Is Education a Barrier to Happy Marriage?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

Is it true that a highly educated man will leave his poorly educated wife behind? This, my family and I, are wondering. This, my family problem.

I am in love with a highly educated man. In a year he will graduate from the university and we will marry. I have only a grade 10 education. We read the same books, like the same music, have the same interests, and best of all, have found what many couples have not: true love.

He is a genius at math and science. I cannot even do grade nine algebra. This worries me although I do not see how it could change things. Alex.

Dear Alex: Don't be buffeted by your family. They are talking through their hats. The only barriers to education are in your own mind. Like most of the rest of things in life, it is for us all. If we only take advantage of the opportunity to learn. Suppose your mind has forgotten more about math and science than you'll ever know. If you want to catch up with him, you can. You seem long on culture. Don't confuse it with education. They are not synonymous but, of the two, I believe culture more important to a woman.

Dear Helen:

Will you please answer this in your column and keep me from doing something I don't want to do? I have a friend who is kind and wouldn't willingly hurt a soul but she loves the sound of her own voice and talks, talks, talks. We have actually to be rude and cut in on her sentences in order to say what we want to tell her.

When she gets me on the phone she goes on sometimes for two hours. One of her phone calls has me almost screaming. She won't give me a chance to break away. When I call her on the phone to tell her something important and about 15 minutes go by before I can say a word, I even forget what I've called her for.

I know she reads your articles. Perhaps she will realize how one feels about such a talker. Her other friends feel the same way I do. If she is in a car, she shouts continuously and gets the driver very nervous. Weary one.

Dear Weary One: I have a friend just like yours. She talks and talks, especially on the telephone. I used to listen patiently. Now I politely but firmly shut her off by saying I have a deadline to make with my column. She takes the hint for she is really a very sensitive, fine person. Try something similar on your friend. These yakety-yaketers with perpetual motion tongues are usually

This "Rabbit" Is A Rare Bit

Call it "rabbit" or "rarebit," the dish made with natural cheddar cheese is a sure way of pleasing all members of the family. This is because the cheddar gives the dish a flavor beyond compare. Try a rabbit once, and you'll want to try it again. Sure of this, the Borden Kitchen has developed a basic recipe with three appetizing variations.

Natural Cheddar Cheese Rabbit (Makes 8 to 10 servings) (Yields 1 1/2 cups)

- | | |
|--------------------------|---|
| 2 tablespoons butter | 1 (8-oz.) wedge Borden's Wisconsin Natural Sharp Cheddar Cheese, shredded |
| 2 tablespoons flour | 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce |
| 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard | |
| 1/4 teaspoon paprika | |
| Dash of pepper | |
| 1 cup homogenized milk | |

Melt butter in top of double boiler; place over hot water. Add flour and seasonings. Slowly blend in milk. Cook until mixture begins to thicken. Add cheese and Worcestershire sauce; stir until cheese melts. Serve over toast.

Note: If an electric skillet is used, set controls at 200°F. to 250°F. This recipe is excellent for late supper servings—double the recipe to serve six to eight persons.

Variations: Tomato slices and crisp bacon may be placed over a serving of rabbit. Or, deviled or hard-boiled eggs, or cooked asparagus add tasty variations when served atop rabbit.

NATO Atom Force to Be Provided

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State and Defense departments were reported substantially agreed today that the United States should provide the North Atlantic Alliance with its own strategic nuclear striking force. In spite of this development of policy within the Eisenhower administration, high officials are uncertain what position the United States can take on the problem at a ministerial meeting of the NATO Council in Paris next month.

Any decisions which are made now on such a long-range undertaking would have to be carried out by the next administration. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and others here therefore are waiting for some indication of views from President-elect John F. Kennedy before determining finally the line they will take at the council meeting.

The basic idea behind the strategic nuclear force for NATO is to provide this country's European allies with nuclear weapons which would be committed primarily to their own defense.

Nuclear rockets are already stationed on Allied territory in the European area but they are subject to joint control of the United States and the nation on whose territory they are based.

One plan which has been talked about both here and with Allied governments would provide for placing a force of Polaris submarines under the direct control of the supreme allied commander of NATO for Europe. Throughout NATO's 12-year history the supreme commander has been an American officer; at present it is Gen. Lauris Norstad. The expectation is that an American will continue to hold this assignment.

Although Kennedy's views on the problem will be sought as soon as possible, he may not want to express an opinion until after he has selected the men who will be his secretary of state and secretary of defense.

Nationwide Confidence Man Jailed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A man described by police as a "nationwide confidence man" was jailed here Tuesday because of a state police sergeant's suspicions and doggedness.

State police identified the man as Howard Lewis Pedersen, 45, who said he was native of Cary, Ill., and who is wanted as a bond jumper in Cleveland, Ohio.

State Police Sgt. Leslie Caldwell said Pedersen claimed to have made more than $250,000 as a confidence man. The officer said Pedersen apparently did not balk anyone here but did pass a $100 bad check which he later reclaimed.

Pedersen was arrested after an unidentified tipster became suspicious of him and notified officers. Caldwell posed as an insurance agent to meet Pedersen, but could not trace the man's identity.

Then Caldwell learned the suspect received a state police traffic warning recently in Bearden, Ark. He dug through an estimated 5,000 warning tickets before he located the right one, which showed the man as having a Cleveland driver's license issued to Pedersen.

When confronted with this information Pedersen admitted his identity, Caldwell said. The Clay County (Cleveland) sheriff's office, which called Pedersen a "nationwide confidence man," said he had a record dating back to 1940.

When taken into custody Pedersen was driving an automobile which he said had been stolen in Detroit in August, Caldwell said. Authorities in Cleveland said Pedersen was being sought for fleeing Cleveland businessmen out of sums estimated as high as $100,000.

Pedersen jumped his $2,500 bond last February after Ohio authorities had extradited him from

Preaches for Unity of All Religions

By DALE NELSON

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — At first glance, the tree-shaded brick building looks much like any of the other houses on the street of comfortable, upper middle-class homes.

But a brass plate on the front door reads "Ramakrishna Vedanta Center," and in the entrance hall hangs a framed poster portraying a large-eyed turbaned man. The caption says "Swami Vivekananda, the Hindu monk of India."

Every Sunday morning a man wearing a yellow robe over a business suit preaches a sermon in a small front parlor just off the hall.

He is Swami Vividishananda who preaches, among other things, the unity of all religions.

On the wall are pictures of Buddha, of Christ in a yoga posture, and of the bearded mystic Ramakrishna.

Earlier, downstairs, there was Sunday school.

This is one of 12 such centers in the United States.

Ramakrishna was born in 1836 in Bengal. He became a priest in a Hindu temple and claimed to have had visions of Mohammed and Christ.

Many thought him insane; others venerated him. One of his followers was Narendranath Dutt. Dutt was with Ramakrishna when the mystic died, in 1886, of cancer of the throat. For the next few years Dutt was one of India's countless wandering monks. He attracted a large following.

In 1893 some of his followers, including three maharajahs, sent him to Chicago to attend a Parliament of Religions at the World's Fair. His speech was a sensation.

Dutt, who had taken the name Vivekananda, now became a wandering monk of a different kind. He went on the lecture circuit. He gave lessons in meditation in New York, where one of his students was actress Sarah Bernhardt.

hardly.

Then he went back to India and helped lay the groundwork for the Ramakrishna mission, which now operates scores of monasteries, missions, schools, libraries and hospitals there. He died in 1902.

In the United States, the mission concentrates on teaching the Vedas, or Hindu scriptures. It has temples in Hollywood and San Francisco, but most of the centers are in houses like the one here. There are two in New York and others in Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Mo., Providence, R.I., Portland, Ore., and Berkeley and Sacramento, Calif.

Congregations range from about 30 here to 400 in Hollywood. Most of the members come from Christian backgrounds. Some still attend Christian churches.

TV Pattern Now Well Established

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

All Times Eastern Standard NEW YORK (AP) — The way network television schedules seem to be working out this year is to provide something of special interest most weekday nights, with two or more on Sundays and holidays.

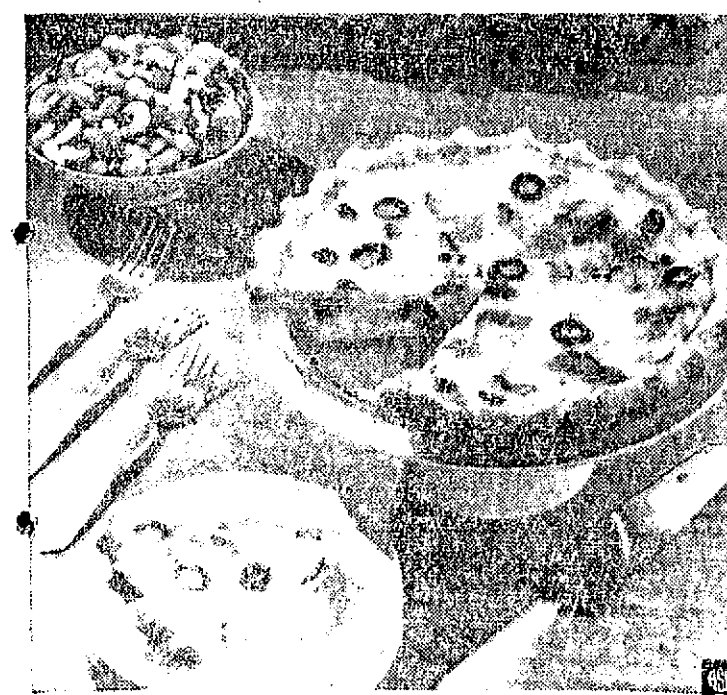

The pattern for the next seven days, which includes the Thanksgiving holiday, is fairly typical.

Tonight, there is NBC's "Dave's Place," a variety show which will have Dave Garroway as head man and is expected to be patterned on those old, easy-going shows of his Chicago days (9-10 p.m.).

"The Nation's Future," NBC's new public affairs show, will tackle the controversial subject of birth control Saturday (9:30-10:30 p.m.) with Britain's Sir Julian Huxley upholding the affirmative and France's Jacques Meryem, the negative, in a debate on whether it is the answer to over-population problems.

Sunday is a red-letter day with NBC's two-hour version of "Macbeth" scheduled from 6 to 8 p.m. and Harry Belafonte's "New York" on CBS from 10 to 11. The New Idea: Olive-Cheese Pie!

For a delicious late evening snack, instead of the usual sweets, serve up "Ripe Olive and Swiss Cheese Pie." Meaty ripe olives and smoky crisp bacon fleck the custard-like Swiss cheese filling. Assemble the ingredients in advance, but fill the shell and bake this enticing pie the last minute so you can serve it in all its golden beauty. Still warm from the oven. Raw vegetable relishes are good accompaniments, and you might follow up with mixed nuts and Tokay grapes.

Cut 6 slices bacon into 1 inch pieces and broil or pan-fry until crisp; drain well. Drain and slice 1 cup pitted ripe olives. Cover unbaked 9-inch pastry shell with overlapping layers of bacon, olives and 1/2 pound shredded or thinly sliced Swiss cheese. Beat together 4 eggs, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1/2 cup cream, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 cup paprika, 2 cups light cream and 1 tablespoon melted butter. Pour over bacon, olives and cheese. Bake in a moderately hot oven (350 degrees F.) for 35 to 40 minutes, until the custard is set and golden brown on top. Serve warm.

Kansas. He now is under indictment in Cleveland, charged with bilking four Cleveland business people of about $18,000. Estimates of his swindling in Cleveland during 1955-56, however, have ranged up to $100,000, police there said.

Pedersen, described by police as a fast-talking "get-it-for-you-cheap" salesman, has served six prison terms in various states for embezzlement, interstate theft, grand theft and confidence games.

Police said he used a similar story with each of his victims — telling them he could get something at a very low price. After getting the victim's money, police

Traffic Is Sharled in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rush hour traffic was sharled today as thousands of extra automobiles poured into the freeways after a strike halted buses and streetcars in a four-county area.

Nine hundred mechanics of the Metropolitan Transit Authority said, he seldom would come in with any of the goods.

walked off the job at midnight and 2,700 drivers respected their picket lines.

Some 400,000 people use public transportation in this area. Many of them drove their own cars to work this morning.

Jams were reported from several key intersections. Freeway off-ramps in the downtown area backed up for blocks.

Police were called in from outlying sections to speed the movement of traffic. Numerous accidents were blamed on the jam.

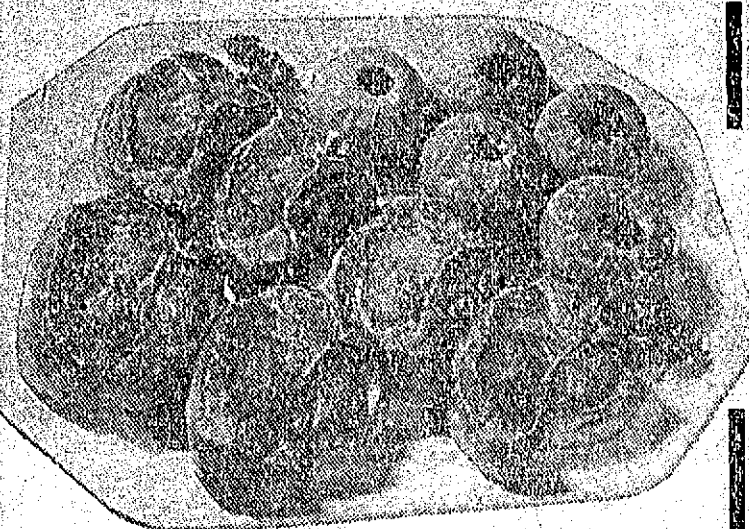

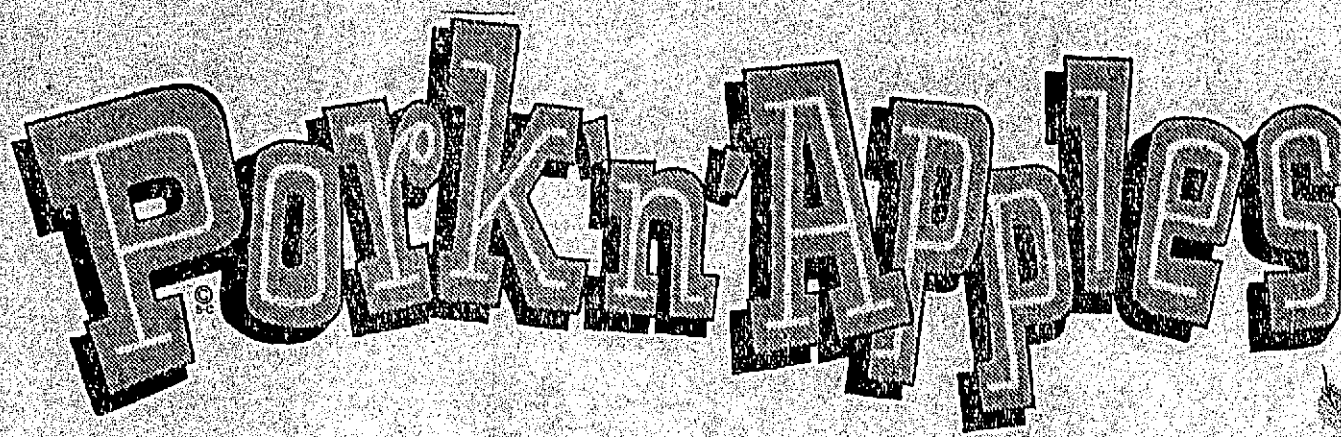

Car pools reminiscent of World War II days took up some of the burden but this was not enough to relieve the congestion.

No-Cook Candies for Children to Make

WHAT COULD BRING MORE DELIGHT to the youngsters than helping you prepare holiday candies for company enjoyment? Here's a recipe for a basic no-cook fondant, developed by Sugar Information, Inc., which can be shaped into many delightful varieties of candies.

CREAMY FONDANT CANDY
 1/2 cup butter
 5 cups confectioners' sugar, sifted
 1 egg white
 3 tablespoons evaporated milk

Cream butter, add 2 cups sugar and egg white. Mix well. Stir in milk and blend thoroughly. Stir in rest of sugar. Turn onto board, dusted with confectioners' sugar. Knead until smooth. Yield: About 1 1/2 pounds fondant.

VARIATIONS: CHRISTMAS TREES—Tint about 1/2 cup fondant with green food coloring; add peppermint flavoring. Knead fondant until color is evenly distributed. Roll out into rectangle 1/8 inch thick. With cookie cutter, cut out trees. Decorate with multi-colored candy balls. Stuffed Dates—Flavor portion of fondant with almond extract. Roll dates with mixture. Antic Pastes—Flavor portion of fondant with anise extract. Roll into balls and flatten into patties. Decorate top with walnut halves. Snowballs—Tint portion of fondant with pink food coloring. Roll into balls and shredded coconut.

 THE STORY: As Janet Hamilton rests in the evening twilight on her terrace, her puppy Brownie Junior begins to growl. She thinks she sees a shadowy something move in the direction of the garage.

CHAPTER XVI

Junior was on his feet, a courageous, staunch, yet pathetic bundle of fur, feet planted, head lowered, a rumble rising from his chest. Which way was he pointing? Toward the garage? Yes, she looked ahead, into the house, faintly lighted by a lamp's glow, the stealthy rustle of the sudden night in her ears. Twenty, thirty feet from her chair to the terrace door?

What if she made a run for it? How long would it take? She placed her hand on the side of the chair to give added impetus to her sprint. She discovered that she could not move a muscle. She was cold. Her heart lurched crazily inside her chest. Her breath came in short, stumbling gasps. Still she couldn't move. She fought waves of panic; that

Arkansas Officer Dies in Crash

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Lt. Commander Wade K. Smith, 37, a native of Marianna, was one of six persons killed Tuesday in the crash of a Navy plane on Bataan. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wade K. Smith, now live in Little Rock.

Smith was pilot of the amphibian plane which crashed into a mountainside while ferrying Rear Admiral Arthur F. Spring, Mrs. Spring and three other persons to Subic Bay Naval Base near Manila. All aboard were killed.

Four other men, an American Marine and three members of the Philippine constabulary, were killed in a crash of a rescue helicopter near the wrecked plane.

Smith's survivors also include his widow, Mrs. Shirley McConnell Smith formerly of Memphis; a son and two daughters, two brothers and four sisters.

One brother is James Smith of Forrest City. Mrs. Mardis Jones of West Helena is a sister.

Schools Call for More State Aid

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A committee of the state Education Study Commission Tuesday night called for more state financial support for public schools.

The commission, established by the 1959 General Assembly to evaluate Arkansas education, delayed giving its approval to the report until it could be studied in detail.

The committee report concurred with the Arkansas Education Association which has called on the legislature to appropriate 62.2 percent of the state's excess general revenue to public education.

ing someone down the back walk to the driveway. Then she, too, ran. . . . She leaned limply against the terrace door, inside the den, choking back into her lungs as she turned the key. She forced herself to walk into the hall and lock the front door and on back into the kitchen to lock and bolt that entrance. She heard Junior yelp and, minutes later, heard his nails scratching at the back door. She let him in, locked up again, and watched him limp across the linoleum floor, whimpering as he went.

She knelt beside him and ran her hands over his back, felt his legs and probed his sides. He was not hurt. He acted as though someone had lashed out at him with a swift brutal kick.

She flooded the terrace with light and opened the door from the den. The damp flagstones gleamed in the light. There was a soft rustle of raindrops falling from bushes and trees, but no other sound.

Whoever it was, if indeed there had been someone hiding in the night, had fled. She turned her head, away from the garage, to stare across the lawn and through the trees on the other side of the terrace. Nothing moved; nothing stirred. Then her eye caught a slim quivering object, extended straight from a white shingle on the far corner of the house.

She stretched out her arm and tugged until the mate to the arrow she had held in her lap earlier pulled free. It left a neat round hole.

She went back inside, turned off the floodlights and locked up again, holding the arrow thoughtfully in her hand. Only as she laid it down beside the first arrow on a small hall table did she understand what had zinged through the air, over her head, during those terror-filled minutes in the dark.

Angry, now, she stepped briskly into the kitchen and reached out for the telephone, her hand poised on the receiver.

Slowly, she withdrew it. Would the police ask questions? Would they want to know where the bow and arrows had come from?

She leaned back, exasperated, yet thoughtful. My friendships, my future and my children's futures are being made uncertain by this romance. Now I can't even ask for police protection.

Is it, I wonder, the same for you, Jason?

In the clear sunlight of morning, last night's panic seemed absurd to Janet.

The breeze which swept rain clouds away brought a blessed coolness with it. Looking out at the terrace, gay once again in its striped chairs and chaise longue, Janet could deny the existence of any sinister threat.

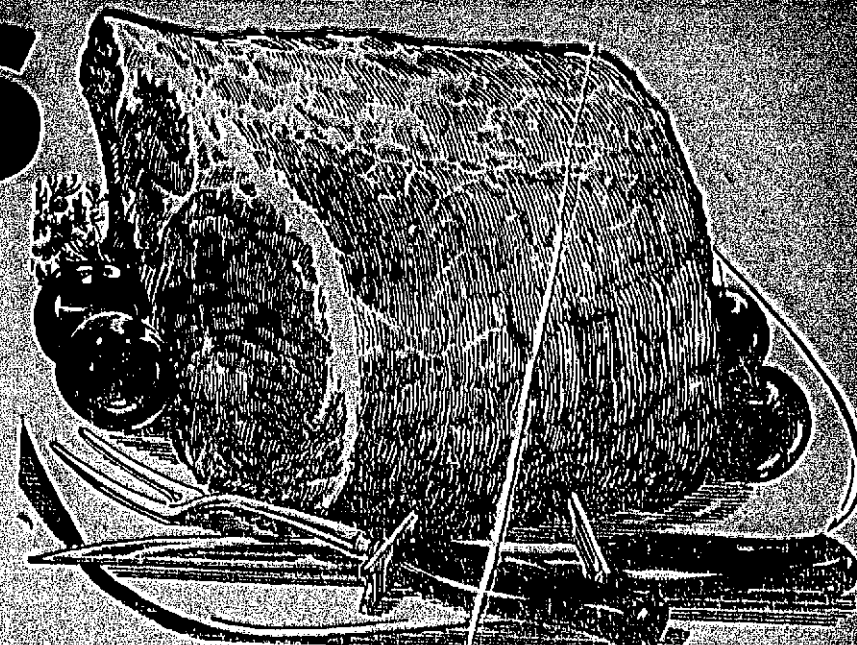

She searched the yard for signs of intrusion and found none. She contemplated calling Jason, but decided not to bother him. She destroyed the arrows and hid the bow in the attic, searching her mind all the while for some simple explanation to what now seemed a preposterous attack. Perhaps a neighborhood teen-ager had been seized with an impulse to frighten her? She was relieved that she had not gotten in touch with the police.

Junior trotted at Janet's heels all morning. Although, somehow, he appeared small and foolish, cast in the role of watchdog, she putted him gratefully over and over during the day.
